Class 1 Gerardine McCrohan

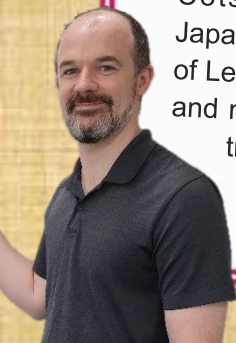

Gerardine McCrohan is from Cobh, a small town in the south of Ireland, but has been in Japan for around 22 years. Before coming to Japan she worked for the Oxford Intensive School of English, and now works for Kagawa University. In her free time she likes camping and hiking, reading, and playing music.

Class 2 Jack Hankins

Jack Hankins was born and raised in the Cotswolds in England, and studied Japanese and Linguistics at the University of Leeds. He settled in Takamatsu in 2006 and now runs a small English school and translation business. In his free time he enjoys art, films, music and many other hobbies.

Class 3 Cynthia Akizuki

Cynthia is from Mission, a small town outside of Vancouver. After majoring in Japanese at the University of British Columbia, she came to Kagawa in 2018 as a Coordinator for International Relations. Now she runs her own English school in Marugame, where she holds monthly cooking classes in English. Her hobbies include experimenting with new recipes, hiking, and studying kanji.

How to be a good language learner

Many studies about language learning ask the question: What makes a good language learner? There are some things that good language learners do and some things they don't. In this class we will talk about our own language learning experiences, and discuss our individual differences. We will learn about the characteristics of good language learners, and then explore techniques and resources to help us become better language learners.

Class 2 Jack Hankins

What is British Food?

There are not many famous British dishes and British restaurants are rare in Japan... so what exactly is British food?

This lecture will give you a wide overview of traditional and modern British food, and also introduce interesting facts about our food culture and tastes.

We will look at home cooking, popular ingredients, restaurants, regional foods and some unusual foods with unusual names.

Hopefully you will discover that British food is a lot better than you may have heard!

Class 3 Cynthia Akizuki

Cooking in English

~ Comfort Foods to Feed Your Soul ~

Are you passionate about food and cooking? If so, this conversation-based class is for you! Let's discuss the concept of "comfort food", and learn about the strong connection between food, memory, and feelings of nostalgia. We will discuss the dishes you love the most, using advanced adjectives to describe the taste, texture, and aroma of foods. We will also learn practical vocabulary for cooking techniques so that you can teach others how to make your favorite recipe. At the end of class, you will have a collection of mouth-watering recipes to try at home!
